

AND THEIR FACES WERE NOT ASHAMED

They looked unto him and were lightened.
And their faces were not ashamed.

Psalm 34

For years and years, they served God in obscurity.

They never complained.

They were glad to serve in the place where God put them.

Now a mysterious outpouring of the Spirit has come to these people.

They are rising up as a voice crying in the wilderness.

They are a sign of coming judgment.

They are spreading fire on the earth!

Who are these saints?

How come we have never seen them?

Never seen them? These people are everywhere!

They live across the street.

They are in the African bush.

In a Mumbai slum.

In a basement in Shanghai.

In a Saudi prison.

In an Israeli interrogation center.

A Mississippi village.

A flat in Brooklyn.

They have no program, no strategy.

They have only one thing in common:

They look unto him and are lightened.
And their faces are not ashamed.

These men and women keep looking to the Lord Jesus and walking in his light as they spread fire on the earth.

The fire is coming near.

Do we have eyes to see it?

Are we humble enough to open our hearts to it?

Will this fire refine us?

Or consume us.

Prayer: Lord thank you for those in obscurity who have never stopped looking to you, trusting you, and lifting their hearts to you. Pour your Spirit upon them. Awaken their soft voices now. Light them up. May the fire of their devotion, their faith, their love of you ignite an inferno that sets this world on fire. As we see your wonderful hand in their lives and the fire burning within and around them, may we open our hearts to the same fire that has kept them lightened, faithful, strong, fervent, and unashamed. Amen.
