

BROKEN CHAINS

Invisible chains, yes, but no less real...

Chains:

Compulsions, Fears, Resentments, Secret addictions, Cowardice

For twenty centuries people have stumbled toward Jesus, wrapped in chains, crying out for deliverance--- and have found freedom.

"Lord, if you want to you can make me clean!"

"Lord, that I might receive my sight!"

"Son of David, have mercy on me!"

"If I but touch the hem of his garment, I shall be made whole."

The Spirit of the Lord is upon me,
Because he had anointed me to preach good news to the poor.
He has sent me to proclaim release to the captives,
And recovering of sight to the blind,
To set at liberty those who are oppressed. Isaiah

Of course, the miracle rarely happens until someone cries for help...

A cry of faith.

A cry that at least confesses, "Lord I believe! Help my unbelief!"

It may be that your moment of freedom has arrived.

The Master will do what only he can do----provided you do your part:

Cry out to him for help.

Throw your life on his mercy and pray to this effect:

"Lord Jesus, I name this need before you, this chain which has wrapped itself around my heart like a curse. O Lord, stretch forth your hand and break this bondage which has plagued my life, so that I can live to your praise as a prisoner set free!"
